

Unit 1

How many friends should you have?

Correct the mistakes in the following text. There are 11 (word order, spelling, genitive, plurals, verb tenses, prepositions).

Social networking sites as Facebook or Twitter are becomed increasingly popular with people of all ages. They allow to you to create a profile of yourself, contact friends or people you were knew in the past and, indeed make new friends. People can upload photos, make comments on each others news and photos and chat to each other in real time trough a messenger service. Facebook implies always a two-way relationship as you cannot follow another person's life unless they accept you as a friend. With Twitter, whatever, the relationship can be one way and you can follow the life of people who don't even know you are existing. MSN is a messenger service where people can communicate in real time and its also a search engine. Ebay is a website where people buy and sell thing.
